

Graduate School of Information
Science and Technology,
The University of Osaka

Admission in October 2026

Application Guide for Master Course Applicants
(Information Technology Special Course in English)

March 2026

【Cautions】

Before submitting their application, all applicants should contact the expected academic supervisor (or the Department Chair) of the department they wish to enter with regard to the course of research they wish to follow after admission.

See the webpage of the Graduate School of Information Science and Technology to find the contact address of instructors.

Information Technology Special Course in English encompasses both Master course (2 years) and Doctoral course (3 years), to be completed in sequence, so that to obtain both the master's and doctor's degrees.

We strongly recommend taking both courses in sequence.

【Features of this course】

The Information Technology Special Course in English (ITSCE) is an education and research program conducted in English.

ITSCE encompasses both Master's (2 years) and Ph.D. studies (3 years), to be completed in sequence, so that to obtain both the master's and doctoral degrees.

1. Graduate School of Information Science and Technology (Admissions policy)

Based on admission policies of The University of Osaka, the master course at Graduate School of Information Science and Technology accepts students, whether from Japan or abroad, who are motivated to establish and deepen information science technology, enabling the realization of a more advanced information society. For this purpose, the course accepts those who have studied information science technology in the science and technology department and who are interested in the application and roll-out of information science technology to biology or medicine. To seek candidates from a broader array of fields, the course also accepts students who have studied disciplines other than information science technology. The course is willing to accept excellent students from overseas as well, not just within Japan. To this end, the course conducts diverse types of screening using examinations and interviews.

The doctor course of Graduate School of Information Science and Technology accepts students, whether from Japan or abroad, who are motivated to create innovation in the information science discipline to realize a more advanced information society. For this purpose, the course accepts those who have learned information science technology in graduate school of science and technology (master course), who are interested in the application and roll-out of information science technology to biology or medicine, as well as students who have completed these graduate school programs and strongly wish to contribute to the information science discipline while working in various fields of society.

To seek candidates from a broader array of fields, the course accepts students who are registered in graduate schools other than information science, as well as working adults who are motivated to study and conduct research into information science. The course is willing to accept excellent students from overseas as well, not just within Japan. To this end, the course conducts diverse types of screening through examinations and interviews.

Tuition fees are withdrawn from the account in two equal installments. (¥267,900 each)

- (1) The above fees are valid as of April 2026 and are subject to change. The fees will be confirmed before the admission procedure starts.
- (2) In the case of a change in tuition fees during school terms, the revised tuition fees will be applicable as of the date when they are effective.
- (3) If they are admitted as a Japanese Government Scholarship Student on the time of their entrance to the Graduate School, they are exempt from admission fee and tuition fee payments.

10. Tuition Waiver System for Excellent Privately Funded International Students

The University of Osaka offers a tuition waiver system (Tuition Waiver System for Honor International Students) for privately-funded international students who are recognized as excellent in the graduate school entrance examinations in order to further strengthen research capabilities and promote the acceptance of international students.

International students who pass this entrance examination and are recognized as extremely outstanding will be candidates for this tuition waiver system. Details will be provided to the eligible applicants.

11. Handling of Personal Information

- (1) The names, addresses and other personal information obtained from applicants are used for entrance examination purposes such as the 'selection of students (handling of applications and selection examinations)' and 'admission procedures' only.

For successful applicants, personal information might be used for providing information about educational programs which can be registered after entering The University of Osaka.

For those admitted to The University of Osaka, personal information is also used for 'student control purposes (school register control and course taking instructions),' 'student support (health management),' and 'tuition fee collection'.

- (2) Entrance examination results and other data are used for tabulation and analysis of the examination results and research and study on appropriate applicant selection methods.
- (3) We may entrust an outsourcing contractor with the handling of any personal information to conduct the above business. In this case, we make a contract with the outsourced companies to handle the personal information in an appropriate way and provide the whole or a part of the information to them.

12. Security Export Control

In accordance with Japan's "Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act" (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), The University of Osaka has established "The University of Osaka Security Export Control Regulations" and rigorously implements security export control for the export of goods and the transfer of technology (including accepting foreigners).

Please be aware that applicants who fall under any of the conditions set out in the Act may not receive permission to enroll at the university or may have their education or research restricted after their enrollment.

13. Cautions

- (1) Some applicants may not be required to submit a TOEIC/TOEFL/IELTS score certificate.

For example, a native English speaker or a student who has graduated from or who is expected to graduate from an institution where all instruction is in English. Such an applicant should consult with his/her intended academic supervisor, prior to submission of the application form, to verify that it can be waived from application requirement.

- (2) An applicant requiring special assistance for taking an entrance examination or studying after admission should inform the Graduates Section to this effect by April 24, 2026 (Fri.).
- (3) Application documents which are incomplete, or contain errors and omissions will not be accepted.
- (4) After they are submitted, application documents may not be corrected in any manner.
- (5) The admission procedure is accepted from September 2, 2026 (Wed.) to September 4, 2026 (Fri.). Successful applicants will be notified of the details at a later date.
- (6) An applicant who does not fulfill entrance requirements (Article 20 of The University of Osaka Regulations) by September 30, 2026 is subject to the cancellation of his/her admission to the Graduate School.
An applicant who has submitted false information in the application documents may be subject to the cancellation of his/her admission to the Graduate School.
- (7) Examination fees are not refunded except in the following cases:
  - (a) an applicant is found not to be qualified for the examination after his/her submission of application documents,
  - (b) application documents arrive after the close of the acceptance period and hence are rejected,
  - (c) application documents are incomplete, or contain errors and omissions and hence are rejected,
  - (d) examination fees are paid but the applicant doesn't submit his/her application documents within the acceptance period,
  - (e) examination fees are paid twice erroneously, or
  - (f) other cases in which the University elects to award a refund.

In the case of (a) to (f) above, an applicant should make a claim for a refund of the examination fees to the University. For the detailed procedures, contact to the Graduates Section.

- (8) The entrance examination implemented this time is for international students with an appropriate student visa. An applicant is, in principle, ineligible to submit an application form if he/she does not hold an appropriate student visa. Therefore, an applicant applying for the Graduate School of The University of Osaka who currently lives outside Japan or who is currently staying in Japan with a visa other than a 'student visa' must obtain or change to a 'student visa,' prior to enrollment.
- (9) International students are categorized as follows.

(A) Japanese Government Scholarship Students:	International students awarded a scholarship by the Japanese Government (Japanese Government ( Monbukagakusho ) Scholarship Student)
(B) Students dispatched from foreign countries:	Foreign government-sponsored students
(C) Un-sponsored international students:	Other international students
- (10) Information and measures in case of unexpected contingency will be announced on the graduate school website.
- (11) Due to unexpected circumstances (e.g., natural disasters, nationwide spread of infectious diseases, etc.), the information described in the application guides may be changed. Please check the graduate school website regularly for the latest information.
